

Scabies surreptitius: An uncommon presentation of a common dermatosis

kouki chaima<sup>1</sup>, Mouna Korbi<sup>1</sup>, Linda Manaa<sup>1</sup>, Leila Njim<sup>1</sup>, Mariem Mohamed<sup>1</sup>, Hichem Belhadjali<sup>1</sup>, and Jameleddine Zili<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Fattouma Bourguiba University Hospital of Monastir

April 13, 2022

Abstract

We report an atypical presentation of a current disease to highlight the importance of making a correct diagnosis of scabies surreptitius in front of any itchy dermatosis especially in elderly patients. The misdiagnosis of this disease results in extensive infestation, especially with the use of corticosteroids.

Hosted file

scabies-incognito-article-2_(2) (1).doc available at <https://authorea.com/users/442054/articles/565186-scabies-surreptitius-an-uncommon-presentation-of-a-common-dermatosis>

