

Figure 1: Arabidopsis and flax as model species for seed mucilage secretory cell (MSC) illustrating the diversity of development, intracellular polysaccharidic mucilage organization, and extrusion mechanisms upon water imbibition.